6 Architect Zaha Hadid's typically sculptural tap designs, for British brassware manufacturer Triflow Concepts, almost look like water themselves. Available in three finishes, the 'Bathroom Triflow' (left) and 'Kitchen Triflow' (right) include the firm's 'three-way technology' – a dedicated filtered-drinking-water supply, as well as the usual hot and cold. Prices start at £6,295 each. Ring 01708 526361, or visit triflowconcepts.com.

7 Fabric-softener bottles and vegetable crates are just two of the everyday things that Seletti elevates to objets d'art by reproducing them in porcelain. These limited-edition silver-glazed 'Estetico Quotidiano' pieces start at £159 approx. Ring 00 39 03 758 8561, or visit seletti.it.

8 Andrea Palladio, the 16th-century Venetian mason and architect, is famed for the Classical proportions of his buildings. What then, we wonder, would he have made of fellow Italian Raffaello Galio's stone 'Palladian' bathroom fittings? Pictured, from top, are the 'Doccia e Vasca a Massello' marble shower, which comes with a matching bathtub in the shape of its negative space (£97,750 for both), and the 'Vasca e Lavelli' limestone bath (£17,250).
